

Sound Recordist

Tom Curry

career summary

I have been working in the television industry for 15 years and as a location sound recordist for the last 10 years. I have extensive experience in documentary, entertainment, reality and current affairs for broadcast television, as well corporate video production and some short film dramas. I have worked on location throughout Britain and Europe, as well as a number of other countries worldwide, in a range of different environments, some of which have been very challenging. I am familiar with all the current video formats as well as hard disc recorders for independent recording and multi-track recording.
